My profile

Basics

My name is Jinming Wang, I am from China and currently studying in Sweden. My English is not good, but I have the motivations to improve it, hopefully I will make friends and get my skills better. That's it lol

My personality

I am quite introvert, and when talking to people I will feel nervous, especillay the people that I am unfamiliar with. However, I am trying to overcome that.

Why NMD?

To be honest, I do not really why I chose New media design as my major, actully I have ever taken an university in my country, my major was electronic and information engineering, it was so boring, then I dropped out of it , and I did something else after that.

My hobbies

I like taking photos(I should have said photography, but my photos do not look professional).

I extremely like watching anime, so I put several animes that I very like down below. (Also, I found out anime is like a bridge to make connections with people who are also interested in anime, so if you have the similat hobbies as mine, feel free to talk to me)
